

A state solar incentive program developed and implemented by the Illinois Power Agency (IPA), Illinois Shines enables Illinois residents and businesses to enjoy the benefits of solar energy (both residential and community solar) by installing solar panels or subscribing to community solar projects.

To participate in Illinois Shines, residents and businesses must work with solar companies that are vetted and approved by the Agency. The IPA protects consumer interests in the growing solar industry and empowers consumers to make well-informed decisions about going solar.

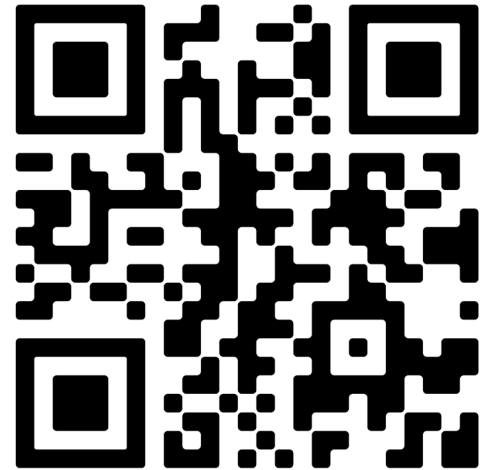

Through incentives from Illinois Shines, the State of Illinois paves the way for renewable energy by making it affordable and accessible.
